PREFATORY NOTE

THE present issue of the Statistical Tables relating to Banks in India for the year 1946 is the fifth of the series published since it was taken over by the Reserve Bank of India in 1941. The title of this year's publication has been altered by the omission of reference to Burma, in view of the establishment of a separate currency authority for Burma on the termination of the India and Burma (Burma Monetary Arrangements) Order, 1937, on 31st March, 1947. Also, statistics relating to Burma have been separated wherever possible. Barring a few other minor changes effected for the sake of uniformity in compilation, necessitating a revision of earlier figures in some places, the presentation of statistics has been generally on the same lines as in the earlier issues. In Table No. 3 where balance sheets for the years 1944 and 1945 were not available, the 1946 figures have been used for the purpose of consolidation. In cases where balance sheets have now become available for earlier years figures have been revised. In Table No. 4 where a balance sheet for the year 1946 was not available, figures for the preceding year have been used for the purpose of consolidation and these are subject to revision.

2. Explanatory Note on the Tables.—As in previous years, the statistical portion has been divided into two parts—Summary and General. Important items of the liabilities and assets of the several classes of banks are given in a consolidated form in the summary tables while the general tables contain details of the liabilities and assets of each individual bank. For the purpose of these tables, the banks have been classified as follows: (i) the Reserve Bank of India, (ii) the scheduled banks comprising: (a) the Imperial Bank of India, (b) the Exchange Banks, i.e., banks whose head offices are located outside India, and (c) other scheduled banks, (iii) non-scheduled banks or joint stock banks in India other than those included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act and (iv) the co-operative banks in British India and the more important Indian States registered under their respective laws relating to co-operative societies.

(i) Reserve Bank of India (Table 1).—Table No. 1 shows the liabilities and assets of the Reserve Bank of India at the end of each balance sheet year giving separately (A) the affairs of the Bank's Issue Department and (B) those of its Banking Department.

(ii) Scheduled Banks (Tables 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10 and 11).—Banks which carry on the business of banking in British India and which (a) have paid-up capital and reserves of an aggregate real or exchangeable value of not less than Rs. 5 lakhs and (b) are companies as defined in clause (2) of Section 2 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or corporations or companies incorporated by or under any law in force in any place outside British India, are included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act and are known thereafter as scheduled banks. These tables give statistics of the affairs of the scheduled banks.

(a) Imperial Bank of India (Tables 2 and 11).—Table No. 2 shows the more important items of the liabilities and assets of the Imperial Bank of India since its incorporation in 1921 while further details of its liabilities and assets are given in Table No. 11. The figures of the offices of the Imperial Bank of India before 1944 include Burma offices.

(b) Exchange Banks (Tables 3 and 10).—Table No. 3 shows in a consolidated form the capital, deposits and cash of the Exchange Banks. These banks have been divided into two categories: Class A, those banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India, i.e., having 25 per cent. or more of their deposits in India and Class B, banks which are merely agencies of large banking corporations doing a major portion of their business abroad, i.e., having less than 25 per cent. of their deposits in India. Table No. 3 reveals that in 1946 there has been a decline in the number of banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India from 6 to 3. Table No. 10 shows details regarding the liabilities and assets of these banks. As a result of the severe inflation and the consequent depreciation in exchange in China, the inclusion of the two Chinese banks in the summary table has greatly altered the general picture, particularly in 1945 when the old statutory rate of exchange still remained in force. In order to facilitate comparison with earlier years, the figures of the exchange banks other than the Chinese banks have been shown in a footnote.

(c) Other Scheduled Banks (Tables 4 and 11).—Table No. 4 has been split up this year into five instead of four groups. Table No. 4 (Class A1) shows in a consolidated form the more important items of the liabilities and assets of the Indian scheduled banks while details of each bank are given in Table No. 11.

(iii) Non-Scheduled Banks (Tables 4 and 11).—These banks have been divided into four classes : (A2) banks which have paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs or over but which have not been included in the Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act, including a number of banks registered and working in Indian States and having no branches in British India, (B) banks having paid-up capital and reserves between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs, (C) banks having paid-up capital and reserves between Rs. 50,000 and Rs. 1 lakh, and (D) banks having paid-up capital and reserves of less than Rs. 50,000. Table No. 4 shows the consolidated position of banks in these classes while Table No. 11 shows the details of their liabilities and assets except of those which have paid-up capital and reserves below Rs. 50,000. For the purpose of these tables only the companies working in British India which have been classified as banking companies under Section 277F and which, therefore, submit returns under Section 277L of that Act and those registered and working in Indian States have been taken into account. As a result of the amendment to the Indian Companies Act in 1942, which provides that any company which uses as part of its name the word 'bank', 'banker' or 'banking' shall be deemed to be a banking company irrespective of whether the business of accepting deposits of money on current account or otherwise subject to withdrawal by cheque, draft or order is or is not its principal business, a number of companies in class (D) above have declared themselves as non-banking companies though the exact number of such companies is not known. At the end of 1946 there were in British India and the more important Indian States, as far as particulars are available, 75 non-scheduled banks having paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs and over, 214 non-scheduled banks with capital and reserves between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs, 140 non-scheduled banks with capital and reserves between Rs. 50,000 and Rs. 1 lakh and 277 non-scheduled banks with paid-up capital and reserves below Rs. 50,000. Consolidated figures of 277 banks in class (D) for which balance sheets for the year 1946 are available are given in Table No. 4. Table No. 6 (ii) shows the demand and time liabilities and cash reserves of all the non-scheduled banks working in British India only and submitting cash reserve returns under Section 277L of the Indian Companies Act.

(iv) Co-operative Banks (Tables 7 and 12).—The more important items relating to the liabilities and assets of the co-operative banks are given in Table No. 7 while Table No. 12 shows details of each bank. These statistics relate to Provincial and Central Co-operative Banks and registered non-agricultural (urban) co-operative credit societies with limited liability and having paid-up capital and reserves of at least Rs. 1 lakh. The figures prior to 1937 in Table No. 7 include co-operative banks in Burma also. These banks are subdivided into two classes, viz., A—those with paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 5 lakhs and over, and B—those with paid-up capital and reserves between Rs. 1 lakh and Rs. 5 lakhs. This year, with a view to present a complete picture, the number of offices of each bank has also been shown for the last two years. At the end of the "co-operative" year 1945-46 there were 56 banks in class A and 309 banks in class B.

(v) Provincial Distribution of Banks.—Table No. 8 introduced this year shows the distribution of joint stock banks registered in India and the more important Indian States as also their paid-up capital, reserves and offices in each province or state. The table relates only to those banks whose balance sheets were available with us.

(vi) Bank Rates (Table 9).—Table No. 9 showing the average bank rates has been revised to include important British Commonwealth central banks in addition to the Reserve Bank of India, the Bank of England and the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. It gives the average bank rates since 1939. These rates remained steady during 1945 and 1946 in all the countries.

(vii) List of New Banks.—Table No. 13 gives a list of recently started banks, i.e., those that have not featured in the General Tables because they have not completed one year of working or because their first balance sheet has not yet been drawn up. It gives information about the location of the Head Office, Date of Registration and Capital.

(viii) Bank Liquidations (Table 14).—Joint stock banks which went into liquidation or were wound-up or otherwise ceased to work during 1946 as reported by the Registrars of Joint Stock Companies are shown in Table No. 14. The number of such banks during 1946 was 27 with a reported paid-up capital of Rs. 25.70 lakhs as against 26 banks with a paid-up capital of Rs. 4.92 lakhs only in 1945.

(ix) Clearing House Returns (Tables 15 and 15A).—The total amount of cheques cleared through the various clearing houses in India is shown in Table No. 15 while the number of cheques cleared and their amount during the last four years are given in Table No. 15A. During 1946 the amount of cheques cleared at the various centres amounted to Rs. 7,262 crores as against Rs. 6,273 crores in 1945 while the number of cheques cleared in 1946 was 237 lakhs as compared with 220 lakhs in 1945.

(x) Appendices.—The names of banks operating in the principal towns of India and Indian States are given in Appendix I while statistics in respect of the number of offices of each bank are given under the appropriate columns in Tables 10, 11 and 12. Names of smaller banks with paid-up capital and reserves below Rs. 50,000 have been omitted. Information in respect of the branches of scheduled banks has been as far as possible corrected upto 31st March, 1947. Appendix II gives, as far as information is available, the names of London agents or correspondents of the banks working in India. Appendix III gives the names of the members and sub-members of the various clearing houses in India. Appendix IV gives the names of non-scheduled banks and indigenous bankers included in the approved list entitled to concessional rates for remittances under the Reserve Bank's scheme of remittance facilities introduced in October 1940. Finally, in Appendix V are given the rates for remittances under this scheme.

3. Banking Developments.—Expansion of banking noticed during the war years continued during the first post-war year also. Though currency expansion slowed down, the resources of commercial banks continued to increase. Cash balances generally showed only slight variations while the total of advances and bills discounted made remarkable progress, which has perhaps affected their investments, especially in Government securities which showed a smaller rise. Though the flotation of new banks was restricted, the tendency towards the expansion of branches continued. The Banking Companies (Restriction of Branches) Act, 1946, was, therefore, passed investing the Reserve Bank of India with powers to control the opening and removal of branches by banking companies. Some of the outstanding developments are briefly summarised below.

(a) Second Schedule to the Reserve Bank of India Act.—Seven new banks were included in the Second Schedule during 1946 while two banks, of which one was amalgamated with another scheduled bank, went out of it thereby raising the total number of scheduled banks in India to 96 at the end of 1946. The banks that were included are:

(b) New Flotations.—During 1946, 26 new banks were floated.

(c) Control of Capital Issues.—Under the provisions of the Emergency Provisions (Continuance) Ordinance 1946, control of capital issues originally promulgated under Rule 94-A of the Defence of India Rules was continued during the year also. The proportion of cash balances to total deposits of Indian joint stock banks was generally lower in 1946 than in 1945. The cash balances of Scheduled Banks remained almost unchanged at 18.2 per cent. as compared with 18.4 per cent. in 1945. In the case of Non-scheduled Banks, however, there was a marked decline in 1946. Their cash balances, after increasing in 1944 to 35 per cent. as compared with 12.2 per cent. in 1938, declined to 31.0 per cent. in 1945 and further to 27.7 per cent. in 1946. Exchange Banks' cash balances, however, showed an increase from 14.6 per cent. in 1945 to 17.7 per cent. in 1946.

(g) Investments.—The ratio of investments of the various classes of banks in Government and other securities to their deposits during the past three years as compared with the pre-war year 1938 is given below :—

Total Non-Scheduled Banks.		3,41	23.0	17,73	24.6	31,46	29.5	37,64	30.7

The ratio of investments of Scheduled Banks to their deposits, which stood at 56.5 per cent. in 1944, declined during the last two years. Though the absolute amounts remained unchanged between 1945 and 1946, the ratio of investments fell from 54.0 per cent. in 1945 to 48.4 per cent. which is almost the same as the ratio in the pre-war year 1938. In the case of Non-scheduled Banks, the tendency for an increase in the amount of investments and its ratio to deposits continued. The ratio increased from 29.5 per cent. in 1945 to 30.7 per cent. in 1946 as compared with 23.0 per cent. in 1938.

In the case of Scheduled Banks, the ratio improved from 33.8 per cent. in 1944 to 36.7 per cent. in 1945 and 44.8 per cent. in 1946 which was below the pre-war ratio by 4.8 per cent. only. Though in the case of Non-scheduled Banks the ratio showed improvement to 55.6 per cent. in 1946 as against 51.1 per cent. in 1945, it was still below the pre-war ratio by 26.3 per cent. //

(j) Branch Banking.—The table below shows the offices of the various classes of banks in India during the last three years as compared with the pre-war year 1938.

5.	Co-operative Banks with capital and reserves of Rs. 1 lakh and above ..	—	—	569	579

There has been a rapid increase in the number of branches during 1946, the banks having opened new offices not only at places where banking facilities already existed, but also at other places which were not previously served by a scheduled or non-scheduled bank. Information concerning the location of branches of banks is given in Appendix I. The number of branches of the Exchange Banks remained unchanged, while that of other Scheduled Banks rose from 2,880 in 1945 to 3,392 in 1946 in comparison with the figure of 1,035 in 1938. In the case of the Non-scheduled Banks also there was an increase from 2,381 in 1945 to 2,688 in 1946, the rise being more prominent in the case of banks with capital and reserves of over Rs. 5 lakhs. The number of offices of Co-operative Banks having paid-up capital and reserves of Rs. 1 lakh and over, shown for the first time this year, increased from 569 to 579.

Banking Legislation.—It was remarked in the previous issue of this publication that the Banking Companies Bill, 1946, was referred to a Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly on 11th April, 1946. The Committee, however, could not meet, owing to constitutional changes, until November 1946. Their report was presented to the Legislative Assembly by the Hon'ble Finance Member on 17th February, 1947. The main changes proposed in the Bill are as follows :—

- (i) Limiting the Reserve Bank's emergency power to suspend the provisions of the Bill to thirty days.
- (ii) Widening the definition of ' banking ' so as to include the acceptance of time deposits also.
- (iii) Providing that no company other than a banking company shall accept deposits repayable on demand.
- (iv) Making the extension of managerial contracts subject to confirmation by a general meeting of shareholders and making the Reserve Bank the arbiter in questions of disproportionate remuneration.
- (v) Introducing a somewhat elaborate but more workable basis for capital requirements replacing the original basis of population for capital requirements by one dependent on the territorial range of a company's activities.
- (vi) Limiting the voting rights of any one shareholder to one-tenth of the total voting rights so as to prevent the control of the affairs of a banking company from passing into the hands of a small group.
- (vii) Prohibiting a banking company from declaring dividends before it has written off all its capitalized expenses.
- (viii) Debarring a banking company incorporated in India from taking on its board a person who is already the Director of another banking company.
- (ix) Placing on all banking companies incorporated in India an obligation to build up and maintain a reserve fund equal to the paid-up capital.
- (x) Making it necessary for all banks to obtain the permission of the Reserve Bank before forming a subsidiary company for purposes other than those expressly permitted under clause 19.
- (xi) Requiring all banking companies to take out licences.
- (xii) Prohibiting a banking company from holding shares in any company in the management of which any manager or managing director of the banking company is in any manner concerned or interested.
- (xiii) Bringing down the minimum percentage of cash and approved securities to be held from 25 per cent. to 20 per cent.
- (xiv) Giving the Reserve Bank free discretion to inspect a banking company at any time so that the public may not draw any pessimistic inference from the fact that a bank has been inspected.
- (xv) Adding further to the powers and functions of the Reserve Bank so as to bring it into closer contact with banking companies and providing for an annual report by the Reserve Bank on the trend and progress of banking in the country.
- (xvi) Removing, in case of private banking companies, some of the exemptions granted under the Indian Companies Act.
- (xvii) Amending the Reserve Bank of India Act so as to enable the Bank under certain circumstances to come to the aid of a banking company by means of a loan against such securities as it may consider sufficient.

The Bill was to have been taken up for discussion during the Budget Session early in 1948. However, as a result of the great constitutional changes in the country resulting in the partition, it became necessary to incorporate a large number of amendments, including a number of drafting amendments. The Finance Minister, therefore, announced in the Dominion Parliament on 30th January, 1948, that for the sake of convenience he had decided to withdraw the old Bill and introduce a new one shortly.

As an interim measure for controlling branch-banking in India, pending the enactment of the Banking Companies Bill, as mentioned in the last issue, the Banking Companies (Restriction of Branches) Act, 1946, was passed and came into force from 22nd November, 1946. Since the commencement of this Act, till June 1947, the Reserve Bank of India disposed of 137 applications, of which 67 were for opening new branches and 70 for changing the location of existing branches. Licences were granted to open 85 branches out of the 143 branches applied for and for changing the location of 79 branches out of the 84 branches in respect of which permission was sought.

Great assistance has been received from the Registrars of Joint Stock Companies, Registrars of Co-operative Societies and Banks, in compiling this publication and the Reserve Bank takes this opportunity of thanking them for their co-operation.

A.—Banks doing a considerable portion of their business in India, i.e., having 25 per cent. or more of their deposits in India.
 B.—Banks which are merely agencies of large banking corporations doing a major portion of their business abroad, i.e., having less than 25 per cent. of their deposits in India.

Note :—1. The wide changes in the summary figures of exchange banks for the years 1945 and 1946 are due to inflation and consequent depreciation of exchange in China affecting the balance sheets of two Chinese banks included in this table. Figures of the exchange banks excluding the two Chinese banks are given below separately.
