Note from the Editor

In this issue, we reaffirm the Reserve Bank of India's commitment to enhancing customer service in the banking sector. We highlight the significance of responsible innovation and strict regulatory adherence for FinTechs and payment system participants to ensure a secure and efficient financial ecosystem. Our focus remains on strengthening the customer experience through effective grievance redress mechanisms, streamlined KYC processes and heightened awareness of digital fraud risks.

At the RBI, we are dedicated to fostering a customer-centric financial ecosystem built on transparency and trust. We remain committed to sharing reliable information and engaging meaningfully with all stakeholders.

India: Financial Sector Assessment Program, 2024

The Financial Sector Assessment Program (FSAP), a joint initiative of the IMF and World Bank, assesses the financial sectors of systemically important jurisdictions, including India, every five years. The latest Financial System Stability Assessment (FSSA) for India was released by the IMF on February 28, 2025, based on an assessment conducted in 2024, while the World Bank's Financial Sector Assessment (FSA) report is expected soon. The IMF report highlights India's financial system's resilience and diversification since the last FSAP in 2017, noting the recovery from past distress and the financial sector's ability to withstand the pandemic. It commended India's regulatory approach to Non-Banking Financial Companies (NBFCs), particularly the introduction of a bank-like Liquidity Coverage Ratio (LCR) for large NBFCs and recommended enhancing credit risk management for banks through strengthened supervision. The report acknowledged improvements in securities market regulation, including the Corporate Debt Market Development Fund and investor protection measures and emphasized progress in digital infrastructure enhancing financial inclusion. The insurance sector was noted for its strength, with progress in risk management and governance and further steps toward risk-based solvency frameworks were recommended. The report also underscored the importance of financial stability as the primary objective for macroprudential authorities and identified emerging risks such as cybersecurity and climate change. The FSSA released by IMF can be accessed at: (<https://www.imf.org/en/Publications/CR/Issues/2025/02/28/India-Financial-SectorAssessment-Program-Financial-System-Stability-Assessment-562815>)
