Donations to PMNRF can be online free of charge

The Reserve Bank of India today placed in its public domain the names, account numbers and MICR codes of branches, which are authorised to collect funds for the Prime Minister's National Relief Fund (PMNRF), to enable people to contribute to this fund through electronic fund transfer (EFT) or special electronic fund transfer (SEFT). The Reserve Bank had earlier asked banks offering online remittance services to offer this facility free of charge for remitting donations to PMNRF. By placing the name, account number and MICR code of branches accepting these donations, the process of online remittance would be facilitated.

The details of the banks collecting funds for PMRF where individuals, etc. can remit funds through EFT / SEFT.
